Overview

Elsevier is currently in the process of migrating many of its digital solutions, including PATHPrimer, onto a single platform. This change will allow you to view all your subscriptions and manage account information (saved searches, bookmarks, etc) with a single username and password.

For customers who use multiple Elsevier products, you will no longer need to create or manage separate accounts. There will be no changes to how the application looks or functions. However, you will use a single Elsevier login for PATHPrimer. This document walks you through how to migrate to the new system. There are two separate procedures in this document:

- Migrating if you do not currently have Elsevier credentials.
- Migrating if you currently have Elsevier credentials.

Regardless of which procedure you use, when finished you will have a single Elsevier username/password with which to access all Elsevier applications your facility has purchased.

⚠️ Note: Each pathology product must be migrated individually.
Procedures

Migrating if you do not currently have Elsevier credentials

This process will link PATHPrimer to your new Elsevier credentials, leaving you with a single login/password for your Elsevier products.

1. Open the PATHPrimer login page (https://app.PATHPrimer.com/).
   Do not log in.

2. Click the here migration link at the top of the page.

3. Enter your PATHPrimer credentials.

4. Select the No radio button to indicate that you do not have an Elsevier profile, and click Submit.

   🔄 Note: If you are having difficulties logging in, use the Forgot username or password? link.
